Question 36 - 40

Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.

Jellyfish are found in certain parts of Malaysia. They are found in Pulau Pangkor, Teluk Batik and Pulau Pinang. They are found during the months of July to September.

Jellyfish float near the surface of the sea. They are transparent, so they look harmless. However, they can be poisonous. Their sting can be painful. Swimmers should keep away from them. If a swimmer comes in contact with a jellyfish, it may sting with a toxic substance. This may paralyse the swimmer. He or she may drown.

If you want to swim in the sea, always ask the hotel staff in the area if the sea is safe from these creatures.
